Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2010/07/16 : CIA-RDP91-00587R000201060002-3

APPROVED AS.

WASHINGTON POST
23 December 1986

ILLEGIB

CORRECTION

An article in yesterday's editions about the Iran controversy incorrectly implied that CIA Director William J. Casey and his then-general counsel, Stanley Sporkin, were involved in decisions about the pricing of weapons sold to Iran. Informed sources have said Casey and Sporkin, who is now a federal judge, were involved in drafting President Reagan's Jan. 17 intelligence "finding," which generally authorized the shipment of arms.

Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2010/07/16 : CIA-RDP91-00587R000201060002-3